GCI Industrial Telecom Expands Services for the Gulf of Mexico

A division of GCI, GCI Industrial Telecom recently announced that their team has been awarded a multi-year contract to provide on call Rapid Response Communication Services and support to oil companies and agencies throughout the Gulf of Mexico (GOM) region. GCI was selected because of their record of solid performance, focus on safety, and qualified local resources.

The Rapid Response Communication Services covered by the agreement include satellite based voice and data services. GCI has also successfully transitioned additional professional service contracts for services and support in the region in 2011. These contract awards were the culmination of a yearlong effort and expands on GCI's existing presence in the GOM.

"To continue our team's recent growth we are working to expand our Houston and GOM presence. These response trailers dove tail nicely into our recent successes in the GOM. We have a growing team of professionals in our Houston and Lafayette Offices and this is another excellent opportunity for them to shine." said Russ Doig, GCI Industrial Telecom Vice President.

GCI Industrial Telecom employs more than 100 professional telecommunication engineers, project managers and technicians throughout Alaska, Texas and Louisiana. They support the communication needs of full life cycle industrial operations.
